The review screen, before anything goes into QuickBooks. Test invoices with invented amounts.

Approved by Intuit

Intuit reviewed our QuickBooks app and cleared it for live company books in September 2026.

About 1¢ a bill

What it cost to read each invoice in testing, billed to the practice's own cloud account.

Nothing goes in until the bookkeeper has looked over the table and clicked Go.

Before

BY HAND

Entry	Every bill was typed into QuickBooks by hand, one field at a time
Filing	Each PDF was renamed and filed into one of 184 vendor folders
Mistakes	A wrong entry meant finding it and fixing it by hand

After

FILE INVOICES

Entry	Bills are created in QuickBooks with the vendor, date, number and amount, and repeats are skipped
Filing	Each file is renamed and moved into the right vendor folder
Mistakes	One click on Undo takes the files back and removes the bills

> "That's very simple and effective... I don't have to enter [them]."
> Mary Tangney, Bookkeeper

How it stays private. Only the reading step leaves the office computer, and it runs in the practice's own cloud account under a business associate agreement, with nothing kept. QuickBooks receives the vendor, date, number and amount, never the page itself.
